At the bottom of Fig. 1, the critical path method (CPM) is classified as requiring much project control effort by the project manager. CPM is one of the earliest reported approaches for project planning which can also be used in practice to form a basis for prediction of the total project duration and to check progress against a produced baseline during project execution (Kelley & Walker, 1959).

An artificial neural network is a network of simple elements called artificial neurons, which receive input, change their internal state (activation) according to that input, and produce output depending on the input and activation.. An artificial neuron mimics the working of a biophysical neuron with inputs and outputs, but is not a biological neuron model.
